

Ideas and Activities

Start small or think big?

- Design a poster
- Talk to a form class
- Organise small group activities
- Have something in your school newsletter or radio station
- Talk at an assembly
- Have a stall at a school fair

“I think a rotation with different aspects of online safety with smaller groups would be awesome because it’s quieter and allows people to actually process and take things on board.” - Martina, Christchurch, YAS ambassador

Activities to try

- Quizzes
- Online games
- Crosswords
- Debates
- Competitions
- Chalk art
- Interactive activities
- Make a short video

“Debate competitions on each of the main online issues e.g. pornography, bullying, sexting and nudes - will make the students do some of their own research and the viewers will also learn from this event.” - Ananya, Auckland, YAS ambassador

Topics for education

- The six discussion topics: Online Bullying, Nudes & Sexting, Social Media, Pornography, Privacy, Gaming
- The basic skills all young people need: blocking, deleting, reporting
- Tutorials for young people who want to run a social media page
- How to talk to parents about a problem or mistake
- Ways to talk to parents about the importance of technology to young people
